Are such legacies valid? In making a will, is there a "right to be mean?"

Generally speaking, the answer is yes. The law is reluctant to con-

Workers Find Huge Bones

ENSENADA, Mexico (UPI) — Workers digging for construction material at El Gallo Creek near here turned up huge bones said to be those of prehistoric animals.

Oceanologist Nistakau Kinumura, doing research work in this northwest peninsula, got the workers to suspend operations to avoid damaging the prehistoric bones with excavation machinery.

Tractor operator Guadalupe Sanchez said he saw the first bones when removing sand along the creek's banks.

"They were huge ribs and a tusk more than three feet long," he said.

The tractor had crushed pieces of bones and the fragments were turned over to the Marine Science School.

The school said it had attempted projects with the Natural History Museum of Los Angeles, trying to dig up prehistoric relics in the area.

Without voting for or against the series, it is my opinion that ABC "Rat Patrol," now in its second season, holds the record for attractive male players on one video program — Christopher George, Gary Raymond and Hans Gudegast, who plays their chief German antagonist. It's World War II shoot-em-up and not a sex-appeal program, so it may not have much of a female audience. But, gosh, these three have got it. Take a look.

Man in a Uniform Cream of the Crop

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: Why do parents tell their daughters they don't want them to have anything to do with a man in uniform unless he's an officer?

Enlisted men are just as good as officers (and some are a lot better) but they seem to be treated like dirt. Funny, but a guy who's not in service at all has the edge on all servicemen. I have dressed in civvies and lied to a girl's parents just so I could call for her at her house like a gentleman and meet her folks. I'm the same man in a uniform, but if I wore it, they'd run me off the property. What do people have against enlisted men anyway?

IN THEARMY

DEAR IN: Most parents don't make any distinction between an enlisted man and an officer. They simply rule out all men in uniform because they're skeptical of a man who is here today and could be gone tomorrow. The cream of any nation's crop wears the enlisted man's uniform (for a time, at least) and I would remind parents that they could be passing up gold because it doesn't look as good as polished brass.

DEAR ABBY: One of the girls who works in our office (I'll call her Zelda) is being married next Saturday. Three weeks ago all the girls in my department received engraved invitations to her wedding, but I was left out. I was invited to a bridal shower given for Zelda by the office girls, but because of illness I was unable to attend. I sent a nice gift however.

This morning Zelda stopped by my desk and gave me an invitation "by mouth." I had already made plans for next Saturday and cannot attend her wedding. Must I give her a wedding gift?

BECKY

DEAR BECKY: Why don't you just give her a gift "by mouth"? [Say, "Best wishes."]

DEAR ABBY: Since I graduated from grammar school two years ago I have gone steady with three boys, all of whom I gave in to. I was lucky. I didn't get pregnant.

Now all my friends are just starting to date and here I am. I have already done just about everything, so there is nothing to look forward to. I could blame my mother for allowing me to date so early, but that wouldn't be fair because I begged her and told her that she could "trust" me.

I am not writing for advice. It is too late for that. Now I have to live down a bad reputation. [Boys talk afterwards. I found that out.]

Please print this for mothers who let their daughters start to date and go steady when they are too young. Once they do, the trouble begins. No matter how "mature" a girl thinks she is at 13, she is only a child.

THE NEW ZIONS CAUSE MISSIONARY BAPTIST CHURCH

ZIONS CAUSE MISSIONARY BAPTIST CHURCH HAS NEW BUILDING DEDICATION

On Sunday afternoon, August 4th at 2 o'clock the Zions Cause Baptist Church of Marshall County will have a service of dedication.

Bro. Bob Covington, former pastor, will deliver the dedicatory sermon.

The beginning of Baptist history at Zions Cause Missionary Baptist Church is traceable to the year of 1885. The church was organized in the home of William McBride who was living about one and one-half miles west of the present site of the church. The church is the result of mission work by Bro. J. B. Fletcher, Bro. Sam Gregory and Bro. J. F. Tubbs. Blood River Association of Baptist was formed October 28, 1870. Zions Cause Church was admitted in 1886.

Bro. J. B. Fletcher was the first pastor and Gus English was the first church clerk. Charter deacons were Harrison Johnston, William McBride and J. W. Young. The first services were held in a brush arbor in the summer and in the home of William McBride in the winter.

In 1885 Moses Young gave the land as the first building site. In 1902 the church moved to its present site. This land was given by J.H. Little. In 1947 a brick building was constructed under the leadership of Leon Winchester, pastor. Robert Covington preached the dedication sermon on the first Sunday in August 1948.

Going out from this church to serve in the Lord's work are Robert Lee, licensed to preach, December 28, 1947; Don L. Bearfield, minister of music and education, August 14, 1955; and Ronald Parker Hardison, song director.

Movements Tell True Feelings

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — No matter what we may say to the contrary, our facial expressions and body movements betray our true feelings, says a psychologist at the University of California's San Francisco Medical Center.

"Most facial expressions and body movements mean the same thing the world over, but some societies have their own unique ways of expressing similar ideas," says Dr. Paul Ekman.

"When an American is angry, he shakes a clenched fist, while a native of New Guinea pretends to shoot a bow and arrow," he continues.

Other movements have specific, universal meanings. "A person who spontaneously covers his eyes with a hand is indicating shame," he says. "The gesture indicates he does not wish to see or be seen."

For Small Fry

Here's a cream cheese refrigerator confection for children. Beat an 8-ounce package of cream cheese until fluffy. Gradually add 3 cups of sifted confectioners' sugar, beating until smooth. Blend in a dash of salt and 1 teaspoon of vanilla. Stir in 1/2 cup of chopped gundrops and 2 1/4 cups of uncooked quick rolled oats. Chill several hours. Shape to form logs about 2 inches long. Roll in flaked or shredded coconut. Cover and refrigerate. Makes 3 1/2 dozen.

To give pot roast richer color when done, sprinkle surface of meat with about 2 teaspoons of sugar before searing it in hot fat.

Effective sunglasses should screen out 70 to 80 per cent of the harmful bands in the extreme ends of the spectrum, such as infra-red and ultraviolet, the Guild of Prescription Opticians of America reports.

The sound of fashion for fall and winter will be jingle-jangle. Chains accent waists and have so many metallic things hanging from them that the clanking can't be avoided when a woman sits down, stands up, walks or shifts her posture.

Does Cupid Still Rule Niagara Falls?

By JUSTIN L. CAMERLENGO

NIAGARA FALLS, N.Y. (UPI)—Some "skeptics" claim the honeymoon is over at Niagara Falls. Toys and teen-age "station wagon set," have taken over.

But romantics, while admitting the cascading waters continue to gain popularity as a family vacation spot, argue the magic of the "Honey-moon Capital" flourishes.

One such romantic is E. Dent Lackey, the white-haired mayor of this tourist-conscious city on the U.S. side of the international border. Lackey delights in his knack to spot the thousands of honeymooners who warm the sidelines of the cooling waters.

"It's part of the dream world of thousands of honeymooners," Lackey says of the falls, "and it's living up to its name."

Not so, insists William Murphy, public relations manager for the Niagara Falls Area Chamber of Commerce.

Murphy admits that Niagara Falls still enchants large numbers of honeymooners each year. But, he says, newlyweds no longer represent the "average visitor."

"The average tourist is in the station wagon set—Mom, Pop and the kids on vacation," he says. "The average tourist stands here checking his watch, saying 'there are the falls. Aren't they great? Now we can get back in the car and make Cleveland by nightfall."

Murphy says the number of honeymooners has been on the decline since the end of World War II, though he cannot put figures on the "station wagon set," back his claim.

"Prosperity probably hurt us more than anything. People can do something a little more glamorous on their honeymoon, like traveling to Bermuda," Murphy says.

He is not complaining about the overall tourist business, however. He quotes figures from the Niagara Frontier State Parks Commission showing that visitors to the U.S. side alone have doubled to 4.5 million annually in the past 20 years.

On the other hand, Lackey, who has escorted visiting celebrities from Miss America to Soviet Premier Alexei Kosygin on personal tours of the falls, feels there is a tendency to underestimate the number of honeymooners.

The Methodist minister-turned politician says he is in a position to be "more keenly aware" of the presence of newlyweds in the Cataract City. He is often awakened at midnight and beyond to perform a wedding ceremony.

Lackey, also without statistics, believes the number of brides and bridegrooms launching their marital bliss at Niagara Falls is rising proportionately with the total number of visitors.

Perhaps the mayor is right. Perhaps Murphy is right. But even amateurs who happen to turn away from the magnetic charm of Niagara Falls can see the honeymooning couples in evidence.

And lest people forget, Lackey points out, many honeymooners return annually to celebrate their wedding anniversaries—the first year or two alone, the next several years in the station wagon set with their children, then alone again.

Recently, for instance, one couple celebrated a 27th anniversary visit with dinner at a quiet city restaurant.

For snacks, make cereal puff popcorn. Heat 4 cups of puffed rice or puffed wheat in preheated 350-degree oven about 10 minutes. Melt 1/4 cup of butter or margarine in a large skillet. Add 1/2 teaspoon of salt and the cereal. Heat over high heat about 1 minute, stirring constantly. Makes 4 cups.

Tips Help You Beautify Face

NEW YORK (UPI) — Some women have their own special ways of applying make-up, some have a natural knack, while others require qualified guidance, says one cosmetics manufacturer.

To keep in touch with all contemporary beauty methods, the firm conducted a survey. Among the findings: women today emphasize the eyes more than any other feature.

When using powder along with eye make-up, it's the powder that goes on first.

Back to eyes. The experts from the Amway Corp. said eye shadow never should go beyond the region just above the eyelid—beyond the frontal bone.

Other tips:
—When selecting a makeup foundation, always choose a shade that picks up the lightest tone in your skin. As to the question of which application is best, the circular, downward or upward, the answer is upward.

—Before starting to apply any make-up, clean your skin thoroughly.

Expert Puts In Word for Pork

CHICAGO (UPI) — A well-bred hog should be a welcome addition to anyone's table, even the diet-conscious. So says the secretary of the pork industry committee of the National Live Stock and Meat Board.

Robert Nelson says the modern hog is just what the doctor ordered for the weight watcher. It has more lean meat and protein and less fat and calories than the hog of even 12 years ago.

"As a matter of fact," says Nelson, "pork today has 36 per cent fewer calories and 57 per cent less fat than food composition tables once indicated. Pork products contain as much or more protein, as other animal protein foods."

Homemakers aren't aware of this, Nelson says. He cited a national consumer survey conducted by the Meat Board and the U.S. Department of Agriculture which showed housewives consider pork to be fat, wasteful, hard to digest and a food to be avoided in warm weather for weight-reducing.

Research has shown, Nelson adds, that pork is nearly 100 per cent digestible; is as acceptable in weight reducing diets and for warm weather eating as other protein foods.

CENTENNIAL SCRAPBOOK Looking Back to 1868

44-D Few who are asked, or feel called upon, to list the greatest novels ever written, omit one completed in 1868: War and Peace.

This monumental panorama of czarist Russia 1805-15 had its inception about 1860, when Count Leo Tolstoy was in his thirties and a veteran (as artilleryman) of two wars. After the second of these, in Crimea, he retired to family estates south of Moscow to devote himself to humanitarian pursuits and authorship.

His experiences as soldier made him an extraordinarily realistic projector of scenes of warfare that form the background of his chronicle of three interrelated fictional families whose lives were affected by Napoleon and the two men who brought the Bonaparte downfall, Tsar Alexander I and General Kutuzov.

Hiram Haydn and Edmund Fuller agreed that "The clear place of War and Peace as one of the cornerstones of world literature must be attributed to the epic scope of the novel, and the quality of the writing." However, the quality of the writing varies in English according to talents of translators.

The novel was followed by another great one, Anna Karenina, before Tolstoy "experienced a religious transformation, rejecting Orthodox doctrine for that of Christian love, which involved the principle of not resisting evil but of taking it in and transforming it" to quote a biographer. Gandhi teachings of the moral force of nonviolent resistance were derivatives of Tolstoy's philosophy.

NOTE: In 44-D of this series, one of C. L. Sholes' partners in the typewriter patent should have been S. W. Soule. The other: Carlos Glidden.

Right: Tolstoy traveling afoot when eighty, wearing garb he made. He had determined not to be dependent on labor of others.

Cool It When Home At The Range

By JOAN O'SULLIVAN

BE A "BONNIE" good cook and learn how to make a fast getaway from a hot spot (the kitchen) in summer weather. But don't sacrifice goodness in your haste. It's not necessary as today's recipes for a marvelous main dish and a super dessert indicate.

• The main dish is Oriental-inspired. The Chinese, as you know, are masters of quick cookery. They also know the secrets of delicately and tastefully combining foods for color, texture and flavor. Thus, Shrimp and Rice is blessed with these Oriental attributes of speed and beauty.

• The range is on just briefly for this one-dish meal, which is made with enriched pre-cooked rice. Save further time by using cooked shrimp (available at many supermarkets) or even large-size canned shrimp and use planned-over green beans cooked a night or two ahead in extra quantity for another meal.

• With this main dish, serve a cold soup, a crisp salad, iced tea and a new dessert: Frozen Date Soufflé. A rich and creamy combination of fruit, nuts, and cream cheese blended into fluffy whipped made-from-a-mix topping.

SHRIMP AND RICE
2 tbsp. butter
1 clove garlic (optional)
1 c. chopped onions
1½ c. packaged enriched pre-cooked rice
1½ c. cooked cut green beans
1½ c. cooked shrimp*
2 c. water
1 tsp. salt
¼ tsp. pepper
1½ c. shredded lettuce
Soy sauce (optional)

Note: *¾ pound fresh shrimp makes about 1½ c. cooked shrimp. Or use 1 or 2 small cans of the large-size shrimp.

Melt butter in large skillet or saucepan. Add garlic clove and onions. Sauté until tender, but not browned. Remove garlic.

Add rice, green beans, shrimp, water, salt, pepper. Mix just to moisten all rice. Bring quickly to a boil over high heat. Cover; remove from heat. Let the mixture stand 5 minutes.

Just before serving, add shredded lettuce. Toss together lightly, using 2 forks. Serve with soy sauce. Make about 6 cups or 4 to 6 servings.

COLOR, TEXTURE AND FLAVOR make Shrimp and Rice appetizing. The time-saving ingredient is pre-cooked rice.

FLUFFY WHIPPED TOPPING, made from a mix, teams with fruit and cream cheese to make Frozen Date Soufflé.

FROZEN DATE SOUFFLE

1 (8 oz.) pkg. cream cheese, softened

¼ c. maple-blended syrup

1 c. mashed banana

1 (8½ oz.) can crushed pineapple, drained

½ c. finely chopped dates

½ c. chopped pecans

1 envelope whipped topping mix

Fresh or canned sliced pineapple

Combine cream cheese, syrup, lemon juice and banana in bowl; beat with rotary beater or electric mixer until blended. Stir in pineapple, dates and nuts.

Prepare whipped topping mix as directed on package. Blend into cheese mixture.

Spoon mixture into 10 or 12 large paper baking cups which have been set in muffin pans, filling each two-thirds full.

Freeze firm—6 hours.

Unmold on pineapple slices; garnish with cherries.

Note: If desired, spoon mixture into a 6-cup ring mold and freeze overnight. For longer storage in freezer, unmold and wrap well. Small molds may be stored in their paper liners, well wrapped. Molds may be stored frozen for several weeks.

Guthrie-Wrye Vows To Be Read

MISS KATHY LYNN GUTHRIE

Plans have been completed by Miss Kathy Lynn Guthrie for her wedding to Joe Thomas Wrye.

Miss Guthrie is the youngest daughter of Mrs. Mildred Guthrie and the late Dub Guthrie of Hazel.

Mr. Wrye is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Dallas Wrye of 515 South Fourth Street, Murray.

The bride-elect is a 1968 graduate of Calloway County High School.

Mr. Wrye attended Murray High School and is now employed at Guthrie's Clean-up Shop.

The wedding will take place on Sunday, September 15, at three o'clock in the afternoon at the South Pleasant Grove Methodist Church.

All friends and relatives are invited to the wedding.

Dessert Bridge Given In Honor Of Bride-elect

Another delightful courtesy extended to Miss Mary Keys Russell, bride-elect of George Shaw, was the special planned dessert bridge party held at the home of Miss Karen Green of Hickman.

The gracious hostesses for the bridal occasion held on Tuesday evening, July 23, were Miss Green and Miss Anna Greer, both of Hickman.

The bride-elect chose to wear a brown and black plaid voile dress featuring a large white collar with a black tie. Her accessories were in brown. The hostesses presented Miss Russell with a lovely corsage of daisies trimmed with net and ribbons of the valley.

Mrs. A. W. Russell, mother of the bride-elect, wore a green suit dress with a yellow and orange scarf. The groom-elect's mother, Mrs. James G. Shaw, wore an orange and beige striped cotton dress.

The guests were seated at card tables covered with lovely handmade linen cloths and centered with arrangements of daisies and baby's breath. The hostesses served a delicious dessert with coffee.

After the guests had been served, they enjoyed playing bridge.

The bride-to-be was presented with a water goblet from her chosen pattern of crystal.

Assisting the hostesses in serving were their mothers, Mrs. Floyd Green and Mrs. James Greer.

Those present were Mrs. Jerry Graham, Mrs. James Greer, Mrs. Fay Bolin, Miss Kathy Green, Miss Kim Green, Miss Sandra Stokes, Mrs. Floyd Green, Mrs. Jim Shaw, Miss Melanie Boyd, Miss Trudy Lilly, Miss Nancy Sanger, Miss Jane Voorhees, Miss Melinda Travis, Mrs. Fred Stokes, the honoree the mothers, and the hostesses.

Stewart-Howard Engagement

MISS WANDA MAE STEWART

Mr. and Mrs. Norry Younger Stewart of Robeline, Louisiana, announce the engagement of their daughter, Wanda Mae to Rev. Michael Anthony Howard, son of Mr. and Mrs. Sherman Borders of Kirksey.

The bride-elect is a graduate of Robeline High School and a senior at North Western State College, where she is a member of the Euthenics Club and president of the Town Associated Women Students.

Rev. Howard is a graduate of Calloway County High School, attended Trevecca Nazarene College at Nashville, Tennessee, and also attended Nazarene Bible College, in Colorado Springs, Col.

The wedding will be an event of August 23rd at Friendship Church of the Nazarene, Robeline, Louisiana.

Friends and relatives are invited through this medium to attend the ceremony and reception following at the home of the bride-elect's parents.

Hot and Cold

For a summer dessert treat, try peanut, pineapple ice cream roll-ups. Place 1 cup each of pancake mix and milk, 1 egg and 1 tablespoon of melted or liquid shortening in a bowl.

Stir lightly until batter is fairly smooth. Using about ¼ cup batter for each pancake, pour batter onto hot, lightly greased griddle. Before turning pancakes, sprinkle each with about 1 tablespoon of chopped pecans.

Turn only once. Place a spoonful of firm ice cream across the center of each baked pancake; roll up. Serve with your favorite sundae topping.

Makes 4 servings.

FASHIONETTES

By United Press International
Used to be, in the nursery department, it was pink for girls, blue for boys. Then along came maize appropriate for either sex. Now look for another "neutral" color—"cloud mist," a pale green. It all started when Mrs. Edna Miller, infant wear buyer for a national chain of variety stores, spotted a pair of soft, misty green mittens in a Toronto store. It was time, she decided, that parents and other doting relatives had a chance to break from the traditional infant colors. Why not create infant fashions in the misty color? She went to numerous manufacturers and got them to dye and make up baby's entire wardrobe in the color in everything from flannel to receiving blankets to booties to receiving blankets to waterproof pants. "I think," says Mrs. Miller, reporting on reception of the new color, "we have seen the end of the pink and blue tradition."

Snippy Ways Save Clan Cash

SIKESTON, Mo. (UPI)—Mrs. Naomi Davis loves to grow flowers and cut hair. Her two sons now in the military service never before had gone to a barber.
"I cut Jimmy's hair until two years ago, and Jerry's hair until one year ago," Mrs. Davis said.

Son Jimmy is 21 years old, aboard a U.S. Coast Guard cutter. Son Jerry, is 20, stationed at Ft. Myer, Va.

Mrs. Davis learned to barber when Jimmy was eight-months old and when haircuts had gone up from 75 cents to $1. "My husband, Marvin bought a pair of hair clippers and said

"from now on you trim," Mrs. Davis recalled. "I even cut my son-in-law's hair."

Mrs. Davis used to trim the hair of two daughters. "But now, they're married and they go to the beauty parlor," she said.

Davis is a locksmith who admits that his wife has saved "a bundle of cash giving haircuts." Mrs. Davis cuts her husband's hair regularly, and their six-year-old grandson is the newest "free customer."

Hendricks Is Making Habit Of Winning Games for Orioles

By PETE ALFANO
UPI Sports Writer

Earl Weaver didn't turn too many heads during spring training when he tabbed unknown Ellie Hendricks as a potential major leaguer and it took nearly two-thirds of the season, but the Cleveland Indians are finally taking notice.

Hendricks, a 27-year-old rookie who beat the Indians Wednesday night with a two-run homer, came through with a two-run single in the ninth inning Thursday night off 17-game winner Luis Tiant to lead Baltimore to a 5-1 victory and move the Orioles to within six games of front-running Detroit.

Hendricks, a native of the Virgin Islands, slugged 41 homers in the Mexican League last season and then added 15 more for the Puerto Rican winter league club managed by his present skipper, Weaver.

During the spring, Weaver, when a coach with the Orioles, said of Hendricks: "I think he's of major league caliber, he's strong and he'll hit them out."

Little Action

Hendricks has played only briefly this season, going 17-for-68 for a .250 batting average, including seven homers.

His single followed a walk to Frank Robinson and a double by Boog Powell off Tiant, now 17-7. Hendricks scored on Brooks Robinson's double and Robinson eventually came across on winning pitcher Dave McNally's sacrifice fly.

McNally scattered six hits while posting his 14th win of the season against eight losses.

In other American League action, New York edged Boston 1-0, Washington slugged Detroit 9-3 and Minnesota defeated Chicago 4-1 in the only other games scheduled.

In the National League, Atlanta topped New York 4-3, Pittsburgh beat Cincinnati 6-1, St. Louis edged Philadelphia 2-1 in a game shortened after 7 1/2 innings because of rain, Chicago tripped Houston 4-1 and San Francisco blanked Los Angeles 2-0.

Bahnen Wins It
Rookie Stan Bahnen hurried five perfect innings and yielded only three hits and Bill Robinson, subbing for Roy White, drove in the only run with a seventh inning single as the Yankees edged Boston and Dave Morhead.

Ron Hansen, a strikeout victim in six previous official at-bats, connected for a grand slam homer and Mike Epstein and Bernie Allen hit two-run homers as the Senators blasted Detroit behind the eight-hit pitching of Joe Coleman.

Bob Allison drove in a pair of runs with a single and a homer and Dean Chance, making his first relief appearance of the season, preserved Jim Perry's eighth victory as the Twins downed Chicago.

Marichal Wins 20th Game Of Season Without Any Relief

By JOE GERGEN
UPI Sports Writer

There's no relief in sight for Juan Marichal, who is conducting a one-man demonstration

Juan Marichal

ion to tan the bullpen.

Marichal, the tenacious right-hander of the San Francisco Giants, became the National League's first 20-game winner Thursday night when he mowed down the Los Angeles Dodgers 2-0 on three hits.

But, even more significantly in this era of the relief specialist, the Dominican star pitched his 16th consecutive complete game and moved to within seven of a league mark set just after the turn of the century in 1904.

John W. Taylor of St. Louis set the modern NL record of 23 consecutive complete games in that innocent year, the same one in which Bill Dimeen of Boston established the major league standard of 37.

Cards Top Phillies
Elsewhere, the St. Louis Cardinals continued to roll merrily toward the pennant, beating Philadelphia 2-1 in a rain-abbreviated contest, Pittsburgh whipped Cincinnati 6-1, Atlanta defeated New York 4-3 and Chicago topped Houston 4-1.

Washington humbled Detroit 9-3, Baltimore stunned Cleveland 5-1, New York shaded Boston 1-0 and Minnesota downed Chicago 4-1 in American League games.

Marichal, who achieved his fifth 20-game season, appears almost a sure bet to top his previous high of 25 victories and rates a strong chance to reach 30.

Marichal received all the batting support he needed from Dick Dietz, who singled and scored the Giants' first run in the fourth and hit a 410-foot homer in the sixth off loser Don Drysdale, now 12-4.

Roger Maris collected three hits and Steve Carlton set down the Phillies on two hits in pitching the Cards to their fourth straight victory in a game halted by rain in the top of the eighth inning. Maris singled across the Cards' first set up in the third and his single set up the decisive run in the sixth.

Reds Drop Back
The Pirates dropped the Reds into third place, 15 1/2 games off the pace, as Willie Stargell blasted a three-run homer and Elroy Face choked off a ninth-inning rally. Face preserved Tommie Sisk's fifth triumph in eight decisions by retiring Tony Perez and Tommy Helms on infield grounders with two on and one out in the ninth.

Cecil Upshaw replaced Jim Britton with none out in the first inning and pitched fourth ball over nine innings as the Braves moved back into second place, 15 games out. Upshaw entered the game after Britton yielded two runs and failed to retire a Met batter.

Ron Santo delivered a pair of run-scoring singles and Don Kessinger had three hits and scored twice as the Cubs posted their 20th victory in the last 27 games. Joe Niekro, 11-6, got the win.

The American Rifleman magazine for August had this editorial on registration. The title of the editorial was "Registration of Plumbing Materials May Come Next":

"The above object is ordinary pipe.

"It is also, on occasion, a .38 caliber single-shot pistol.

"It can be made by almost anyone, with hardly any tools, in a few minutes from material readily available from plumbing supply and hardware stores. It is even simpler to construct than a zip gun, as it does not need any spring or actuating mechanism.

"This 'deadly weapon' bears no maker's name.

"It has no serial number.

"If used to commit a crime, it yields no ballistic characteristics that can be traced. Being only a piece of pipe without rifling—a 'smoothbore'—it leaves no identifiable land and groove marks on a bullet fired through it.

"After being fired once, it can be taken apart instantly, it then becomes nothing but anonymous pipe.

"In revealing all this, we are not imparting a secret to criminals. They already know of such devices as this, and so do police. These 'pipe guns' can be made up in various sizes as large as a 12 ga. shotgun. Criminals and others have been making them for many years.

"Perhaps your answer is to control the ammunition that goes into such pipe guns. If so, you should realize that this is about as easy as controlling individual cigarettes, nails, or gasoline, the kind of gas that goes either into car tanks or molotov cocktails.

"It is impossible to put a serial number on every bit of ammunition made. Even if it were, that would be a greater challenge to those who want to break the law. Black powder can be made in any high school chemistry laboratory. It often is.

"What we are saying here is in effect what the National Rifle Association has been saying all along: what needs to be controlled is the criminal impulse in people, not inanimate objects like guns—or a plain piece of pipe."

Carl Hasford Doran and his six pound white cat that he caught on redworms near Egner's Ferry Bridge.

Local News

Carl Hasford Doran of Browns Grove, who is just 10 years old, caught a 6 pound White Cat while fishing near Egner's Ferry Bridge. He was using redworms when he came up with the nice fish.

Carl is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Doran. Henry is the one who keeps the Post Office lawn and hedge looking so nice, he is also the one that brought in all those nice tomatoes to the office the other day.

Herman C. Cook III, of Memphis, Tennessee, caught a 6 pound 8 ounce largemouth bass while on vacation here at Kentucky Lake. Now this may not seem too great a feat, until you find out that he is only eight years old.

Herman was fishing in the boat channel at the lake-side home of Grayson McClure, of Taylor Motors, who is a sponsor of the Fins 'N Feathers page.

He was using a cane pole and night crawlers, trying to catch catfish, when he landed the big one, as his mother said, "He has only fished a few times, but needless to say, he is now 'hooked'."

The fish was not weighed until eight hours after he was pulled in out of the water, and the scales were still tipped at six pounds eight ounces, and it was 24 inches long. I wonder what the weight would have been had they weighed him when he was caught.

IN MOTHER'S FOOTSTEPS

What joy in life is seen in those eyes. That smile is given freely to everyone. Now look at them both. Which one am I talking about? Aren't they both the same? No, she's not an exact, carbon copy, of her mother — for when you look again, you see that there is a generation between them. She wears the bright colors in her dress with the cute designs. Her dreams are different than her mothers. She is more outgoing. Yet in the mother you can see a quiet humor and in her closeness to her daughter, a gentle protectiveness. Her mother's dreams are sometimes too ambitious, but in the "Encouragement Department" she works just fine.

There is one dream and ambition they both have, however, and that is to be like our Lord and Saviour Jesus Christ, and to be of service to the church. Their goodness is of God.

"For the eyes of the Lord are over the righteous, and his ears are open unto their prayers; but the face of the Lord is against them that do evil." I Peter 3:12.

EVERY ONE IN THE CHURCH
THE CHURCH IN EVERY ONE

The Church is God's appointed agency in this world for spreading the knowledge of His love for man and of His demand for man to respond to that love by loving his neighbor. Without this grounding in the love of God, no government or society or way of life will long persevere and the freedoms which we hold so dear will inevitably perish. Therefore, even from a selfish point of view, one should support the Church for the sake of the welfare of himself and his family. Beyond that, however, every person should uphold and participate in the Church because it tells the truth about man's life, death and destiny; the truth which alone will set him free to live as a child of God.

Human Kite On Sundays

EUGENE, Ore. (UPI)—They call Mike Moore "the pelican" on Sunday, anyway.

During the week, he manages the men's wear section of a department store here but on Sunday he skis up to 100 feet above water in his hobby, ski-kiting.

Moore, 38, hitches a 12x15-foot, 60-pound kite called "Red Baron" on his back and gets a pull from a power boat on Fern Ridge Lake. Then he lets go.

Getting up is easy, says Moore, but staying up and coming down is more difficult. "Ideally, one should come down and glide on his skis, but this doesn't always happen," he says.

His wife, Judy, is a skier too but only on water.

Connecticut is the southernmost New England State.

Next to Rhode Island, Delaware is the smallest state in the union.

Idaho ranks first in the nation in potato production.

Wisconsin has more than 8,500 lakes.

CHAPTER 26

ONE OF the elderly ladies, Emile, appealed to her friends and they nodded their heads in confirmation, but Frue Harben added that because of Helga's loyal service to the Winter family for so many years, she had had special treatment.

"Frue Dorothea looked after her herself, it was said. Until yesterday, of course, when she had her stroke. So now she is brought down to our level."

I don't know whether Frue Dorothea had heard her name or not, but suddenly she was beside me, giving her frosty smile to the old women, and saying to me, "Laise, the young people are going to dance in the conservatory. I think you should join them."

"Perhaps she will begin by dancing with me," Erik Winther said, and I spun around to see him behind me.

I smiled because he was smiling. He wasn't angry with me after all, I thought, and the party was suddenly much more gay. Even the row of old ladies, hands trembling over fans or gloves or sticks, were looking at me with a certain benign good-will. Or perhaps it was Erik who provoked this kind of friendliness.

"You don't seem surprised to see me," I complained.

"No, but I admit someone whispered to me that you were here."

"Nor angry?"

"And why should I be angry, for heaven's sake?"

"You were very anxious to say goodbye to me at Kasturp Airport not so long ago."

"I admit that, too. But certain things have changed, perhaps. Or are about to change. Anyway, let's just say I am happy to see you. Will you dance with me?"

I discovered that my hands were trembling as much as the ancient ladies. How ridiculous. Erik must have noticed it as I put my right one in his for he held it quite hard to steady it.

"Now," he said, "Are we to dance or go into the library where it is quiet?"

"Why do we need for quiet? I am perfectly well."

"I can see that. I am glad to say. It wasn't your health I was thinking of. I thought you had things to tell each other. You have been to London. I have been to Dragoir and other places." He looked at me with his serious eyes and said thoughtfully, "Other things, too. But the unfinished business first."

"How funny, those are exactly the words I used to Otto to explain my being here."

I scanned the crowd for Otto, and our glances met simultaneously. A strange little shock went through me. I was seeing, in that moment, the stranger inside his skull, the cold schemer who had used me to suit his devious purposes.

"Let's go to the library," I said quickly. Erik followed my glance, and understood at once.

"Yes, that's my brother," he said grimly. Then he took my hand and we left the room.

In the library the curtains were drawn and a fire-burning. Erik shut the door behind us, and surprised me by turning the key in the lock. I was even more surprised when he turned out the light, after which he crossed to the window and drew back the curtain an inch.

"Come and look," he said in a low voice.

This room faced on the wider part of the garden that sloped to the edge of the beechwoods. Only a corner of the lake was visible. I noticed that the moon was up and that the water glimmered. Otherwise I could see nothing, though I believed there was something moving. As my eyes became accustomed to the darkness, I was sure I could see two figures at the bottom of the garden. At the same time I heard Anna barking again.

"Are those men down there? Why is Anna barking so much this evening?"

"It isn't Anna. It's a police dog," dropped the curtain.

"Why?"

Erik switched on the light. After the darkness, it was so brilliant that now I could see his composed voice didn't begin to match his appearance, which was strained and haggard and too alert.

"Erik, what's happening?"

"Nothing that our guests are meant to know about. But it's fitting that you of all people should be here at the denouement."

"The denouement of what?"

"I suppose of my brother, among other things."

I remembered Otto's mud-stained jacket, his desperate effort to maintain an air of normality.

"This can't just be the sequel to that crazy marriage! I waved toward the window and the darkness outside. "Not police and police dogs."

"It should amuse you, Laise. It's your elusive priest, from Dragoir who is being chased."

"Peter Hansen! The so-called priest!" He had never been a genuine priest to me, so I called him by the unfamiliar foreign name.

"Ja, Det sognepraest." Erik lapsed into Danish, too.

"But can he be arrested for performing a bogus marriage? Is there any proof? I could find none." I was suddenly cold with doubt. "Am I really married to Otto after all?"

Erik gave a small half-amused smile.

"Not so long ago I thought you were very anxious to prove that."

"But now I am not. At least, I am anxious to prove it wasn't so. If Peter Hansen is an impostor, he couldn't perform a legitimate marriage, could he?"

"But he isn't an impostor. He is a priest. Or was."
